

Elevate

your roofline with the RIGHT barrel profile

Capistrano

Malibu

Concrete tile is made of all-natural materials.

A high barrel tile, Capistrano prominently showcases an elegant S curve that harkens back to the "Old World". This profile is the superior choice for homeowners and designers alike looking to not only recreate a traditional Mediterranean look but also deliver a luxurious statement piece for the home.

What's the difference?

A contemporary yet stunning barrel profile, Malibu features subtle, rolling curves and is ideal for modernizing homes that are 2500 square feet or less in size. This product also looks great on larger multifamily and commercial buildings thanks to its double barrel look and versatility to complement stonework and wrought-iron balconies.

Concrete tile is manufactured to last the life of the structure.

Capistrano beautifully pairs with structures containing exterior elements such as arched windows and doorways, columns, pavers, rotundas, stonework and wrought-iron balconies.

Malibu suits a variety of architectural styles and buildings, such as: Floridian, Italianate, Mediterranean, and Tuscan as well as apartment buildings, libraries, retail plazas and other large structures.

Need help deciding which roof tile profile is right for you?
Contact your local Eagle Account Representative for more information.
www.eagleroofing.com